

FocoTaps/ PomoTimeTracker

A short introduction of the App for Users/Reviewers

Choose whether to record activity with Pomodoro clock or directly enter the information

Select activity type and the specific activity

Select to Focus or take a break;

- Deep focus: notification will be sent if user leave the phone
- End when I return: if you go back to the app 10 minutes after the 25-minute clock, it will count the whole time period

Select the time duration;

Press “Start” to start the clock;

Navigation between different app screens.

- Screen 1: event entry.
- Screen 2: Show the daily/weekly records
- Screen 3: Show the statistics charts
- Screen 4: Show the external Calendar events through iCal links
- Screen 5: Settings

9:20

Pomodoro Quick Timeline

1. Select Activity Type

Work Life Social Rest

2. Select Activity

Workout Commute Shopping

Housework Cooking Other

3. Time Range

Past Future

40 min

20:54 - 21:34

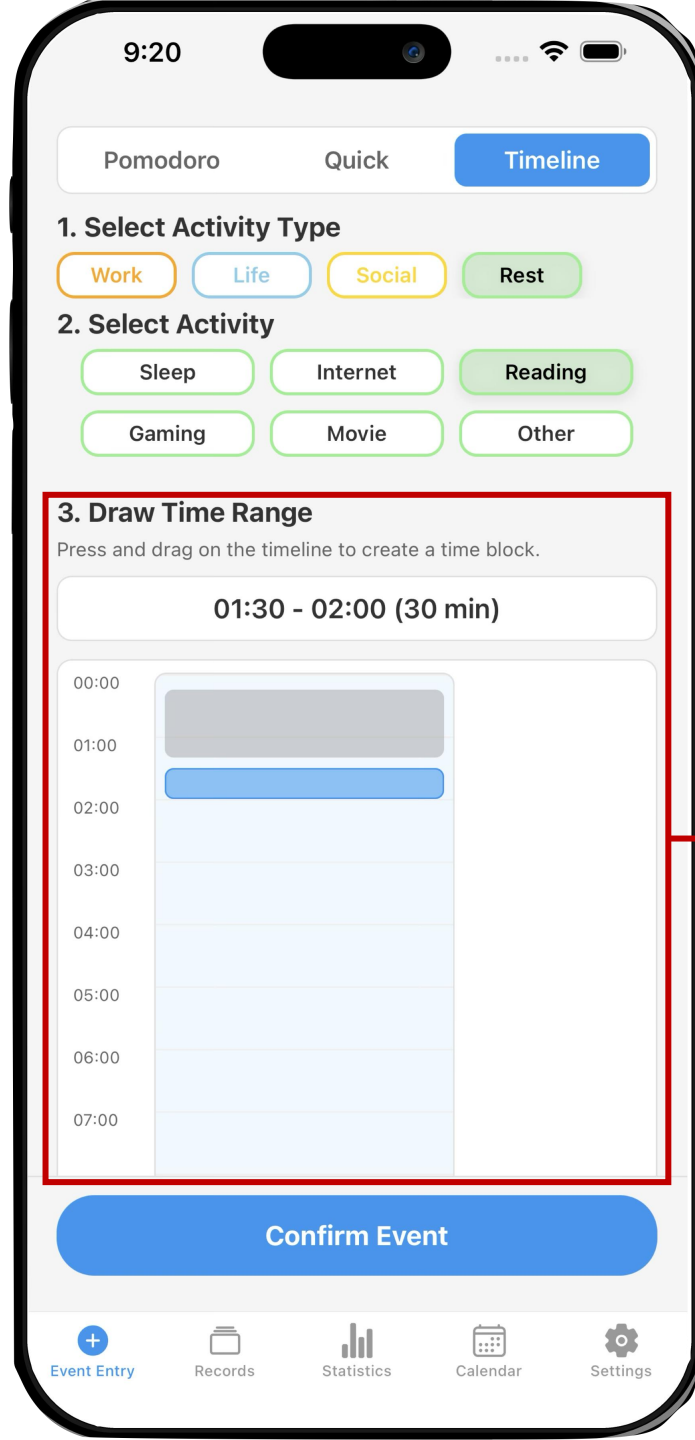

20:00 21:00 22:00

Confirm Event

Event Entry Records Statistics Calendar Settings

Quick event entry mode

Given current time, for the past/future xx minutes,
record an activity event.

Quick event entry by Dragging a time range

Given the time range
record an activity event.

View historical records

Select day view or weekly view

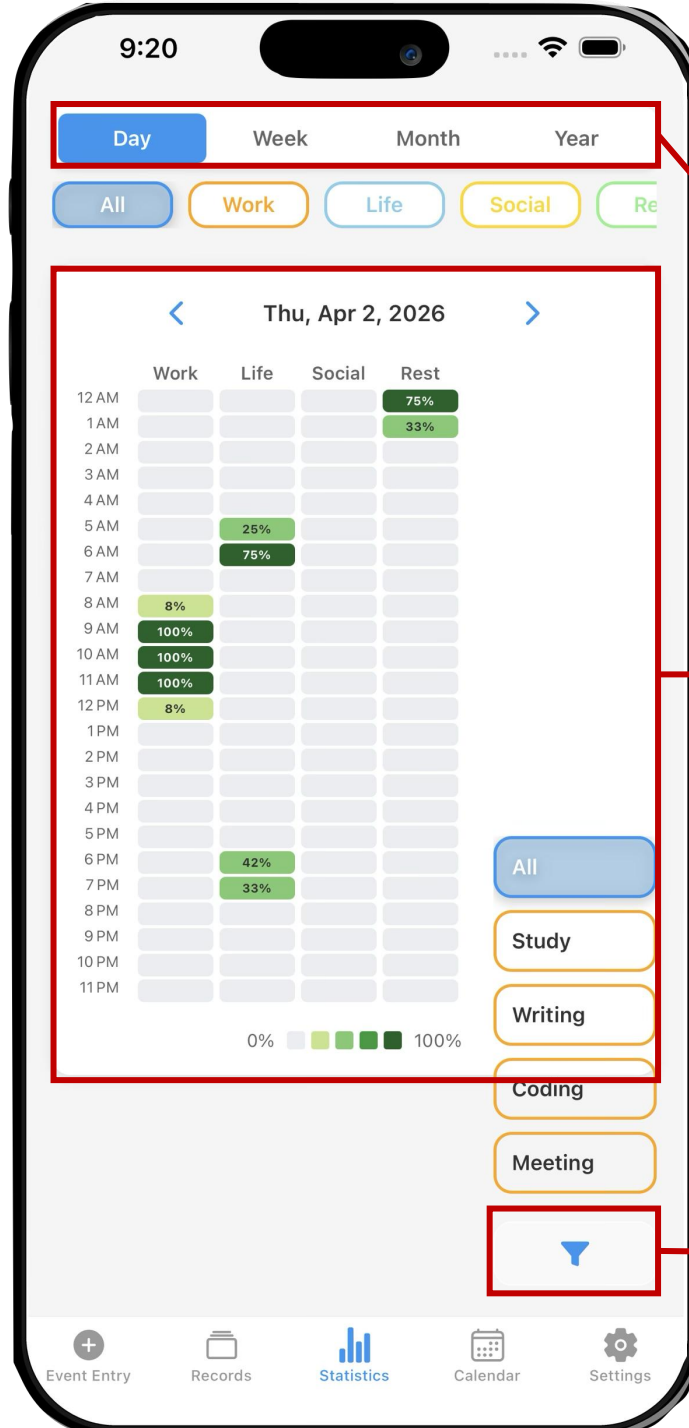

Setup daily/weekly targets for the most important thing to do!

A list of duration for each activity type during the day

A complete list of recorded events
You can delete or edit the view

You can turn on to view the events on the daily/weekly Timeline

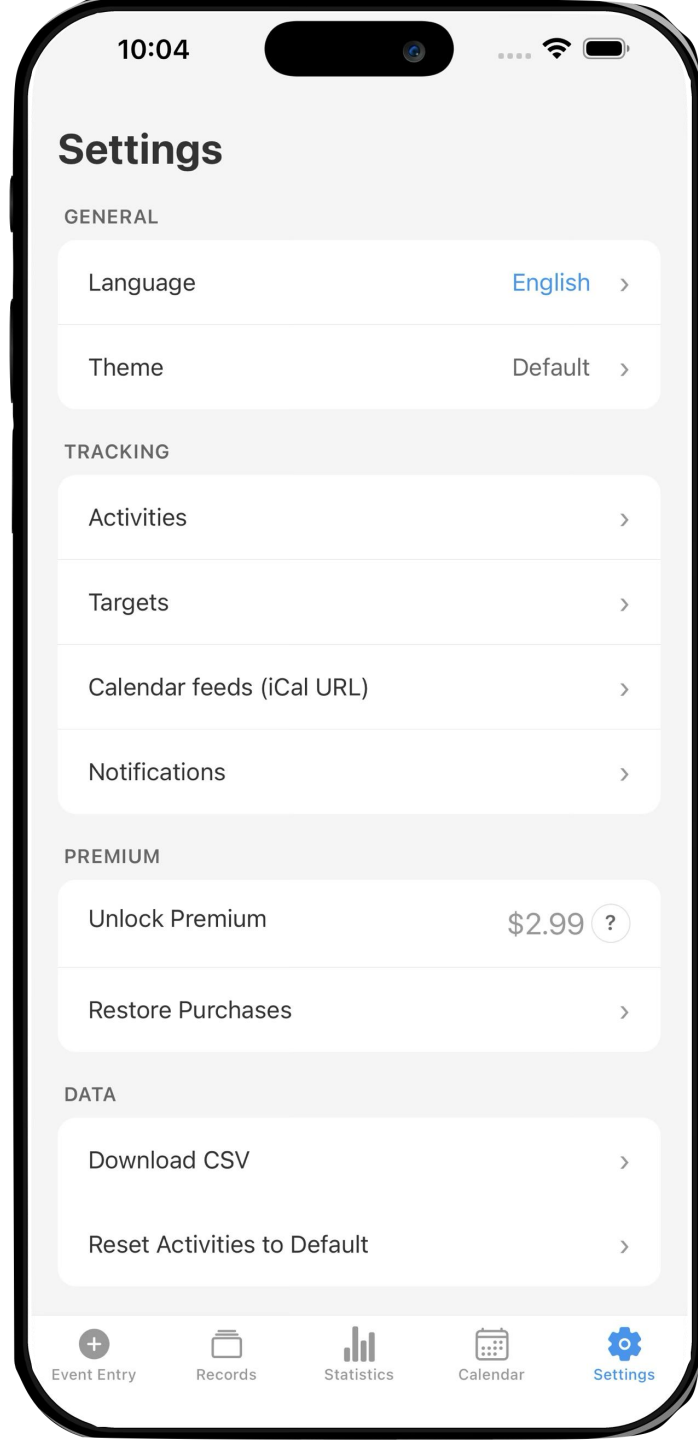

View Statistics

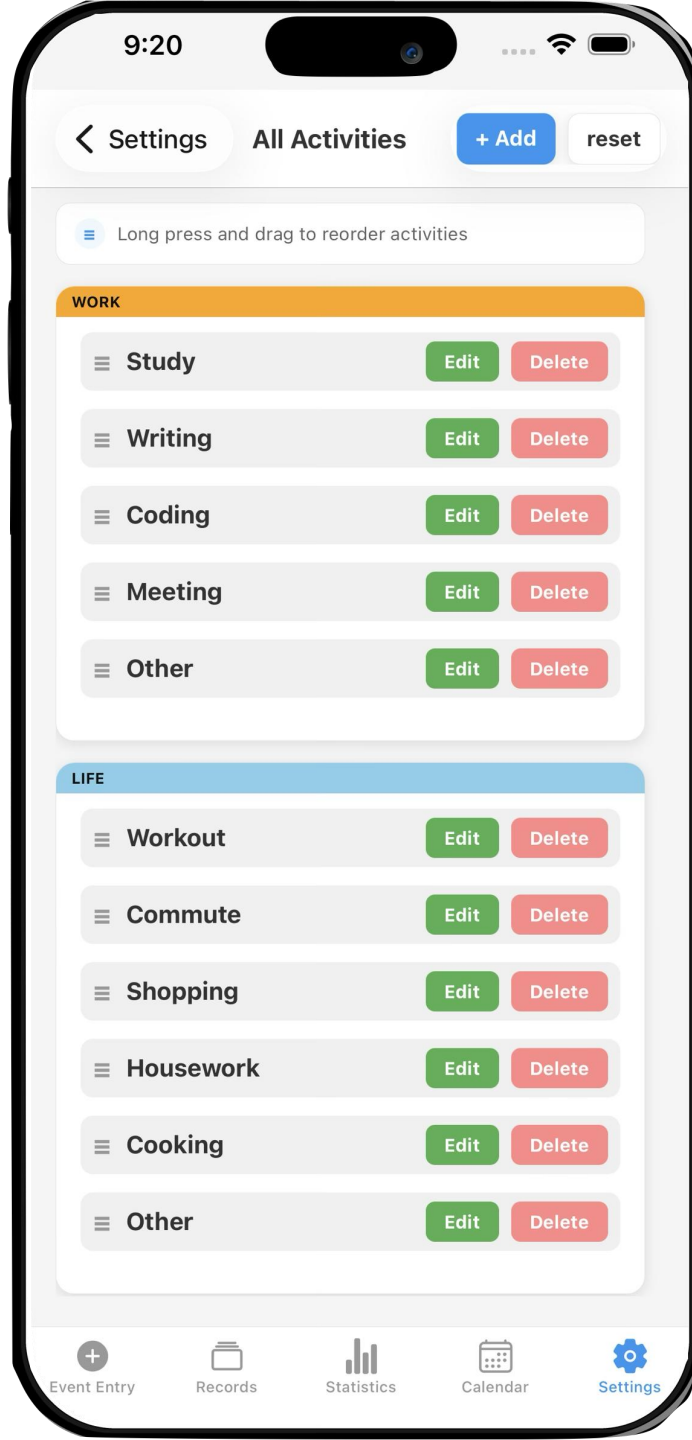

View statistics by day/week/month/year

Heatmaps are provided for different views to view the time usage patterns

Filter events

Complete Settings

Define Your own activities